RAMBLINGS FROM THE PRESIDENT

Why do people pay to go up tall buildings and then put money in binoculars to look at things on the ground? As luck would have it, I had nothing to write about this month, that is until we were sitting around at our monthly Board of Directors meeting at Stu's house when Robbie Gray wanted to talk about a Glidden Tour that he, Susan, Nelson, Jim Gregory and the Farley's took several years ago to Fort Smith, Arkansas.

Part of the trip was a tour of what was described as a "magic" complex. The building is rather indiscreet and somewhat plain looking from the outside and is called "MISS LAURA's" house. Robbie and Ken went inside, were greeted by a rather buxomly Blonde 20 something year old woman who showed them the itinerary consisting of 3 "tricks", one called a "Peek Trick" for $1, another for $5 called a "Quick Trick" and the 3rd involving chains and padlocks called "Bondage" for the sum of $200. Sue and Shirley waited on the front porch for the men to come out. After three minutes, Robbie came out and stated that his "trick wasn't even worth the $5 it was so fast, and the fact he couldn't even figure it out. Thirty minutes later Ken came stumbling out the door with his hair all messed up, clothes wrinkled and twisted, and mumbling something to the effect that his "trick" just plain wore him out and that there was no "magic" involved. "They should rename the joint"! Ken also said that if you've ever seen a magic show with Harry Houdini, it wasn't ANYTHING like that. Jim? He was escorted into a room, took a "peek" and was escorted out the back door. Nelson? He was just muttering "Tell me all about it, tell me all about it, tell me all about it"! Across the street was the old Judge Parker Jail and it was holding eight men named "John". No Harry, Percy, Ralph, or Waldo, just "John". Strange place this Arkansas. How about Mississippi or Tennessee? Maybe they are all "Bubba"?

Did I forget Hazy Mountain Winery? Nope. Just wanted to forget the episode where Dave Sarginger had one too many sips of the "fruit of the vine", stood on one of the tables and performed a naughty dance, much to the applaud of the tourists visiting for the first time and Carol tossing Tulips at him. Who says we don't have a good time? We really didn't miss Barry Linke since his antics on Air Force One and from a phone call to Rose, from Barry. This is what transpired. Barry is on vacation in the "RESORT OF FORT LEAVENWORTH", Kansas. Instead of flying on Jet Blue or United, he instead had a first class seat on Con Air out of Shenandoah Valley Airport. Barry is a guest in a "pent house" suite on Tier 6, Unit 416. He says that while his "suite" is a little cramped, he has a wonderful view of the surrounding miles of corn fields and is so enamored with the view, he stays in his "pent house" for 23 hours a day. When he leaves his quarters for his daily walk, he wears a highly polished stainless steel pair of bracelets. He says that the bracelets must be so valuable, that he also has two muscular body guards with machine guns that have patches on their sleeves that says MP (My Protection?) to protect him in the event some other "guest" doesn't steal them. Barry also feels that since he is such an honored guest, that instead of having his name printed over his shirt pocket, they gave him number VA772565. Not only that, but because he is so highly thought of, they embroidered his number on the back of his shirt in block letters 4 inches high, and even gave the white shirt some black stripes. Barry says that while this resort is for very special people, they really don't serve the quality of food he is used to. While he is used to the Royal Dalton dinnerware at home, he is served on a steel plate at the resort. He also thinks it rather rude that they let many of the "guests party all night long" as the all night yelling and screaming can be disruptive to quality rest. The resort is also in a gated community with armed guards at all four corners, apparently to keep out unwanted riffraff. He'll leave in 2034 he estimates.

And finally, you probably think that we don't get any business done at our B.O.D. meetings, but au contraire, I set aside 7 minutes for business and 2 hours for relaxation/ entertainment. Prior to us having desert, Stu ALWAYS reminds me to keep the seedy side out of my columns. (I think he's afraid of the censors or the AACA) He will then set out a slab of apple pie (freshly baked 20 inch wide pie) and a pint of vanilla ice cream topping on each slab. OK, we eat good too! Let Stu know if you'd be interested in coming to one of our meetings so he can garner up an extra chair and place setting at his eighteen foot long dining room table. (Tahitian Mahogany no less. This guy does it right)

May 19 W-S Meeting at Hazy Mountain Winery

The Hazy Mountain facility is impressive.

Great views from the patio.

Nice turnout of member's and guest's vehicles.

Proof that a 1967 MGB GT can conquer the mountain!

Sundrellas offered shade on a beautiful day.

Butch Beverly bought another Mustang to use as a sample to help reassemble his old one.

President Jack Drago conducted a short meeting since folks were hungry for pizza!

50/50 Sales Expert Deb Skillman somehow dropped all the tickets and had to retrieve them just prior to husband Larry winning the drawing???

Scenery like this reminds us of why we love the Shenandoah Valley!

Rebecca Maria Hansel Perrin, 77, passed away on Sunday, May 5, 2024, at the University of Virginia Hospital in Charlottesville, Virginia.

Minutes of the May 19, 2024 W-S Meeting

On a beautiful Sunday afternoon, our group met at the abandoned Howard Johnsons on Afton Mountain. After everyone arrived, we traveled to the Hazy Mountain Winery, 240 Hazy Mountain Lane, Afton. Although Karen Drago had called the winery on Thursday to confirm that we had reserved the room for our group, the room was already occupied by other groups. As the weather was great, we gathered on the patio under sundrellas so it worked out well. We found it was a challenge to order at the bar, and finally get our pizzas after a wait.

Jack Drago conducted a short meeting, welcoming 36 members and guests. He reminded us that the June 16 meeting will be held at 4:00PM at Golden Corral in Waynesboro.

The 50/50 was won by Larry Skillman who was roundly jeered having sold the winning ticket.

Everyone enjoyed the fellowship and the beautiful scenery from the winery grounds.

Respectfully submitted,

Stu Allen for Robbie Gray
